Wheat, Old Corn, and Maryland Tobacco,

PURCHASED BY
Oct 24 LAWRASON & FOWLE.

Mr. Editor,

KNOWING that there is a number of the most worthless of society, who make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, that it may be made known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of those banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent, for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.

The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:

The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown.
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers' Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.

I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 26th day of May, 1819.

THE SPECULATOR.

BY JOHN HARWOOD.

Too proud or too lazy to weave him a net:
No fly for his supper, the spider will get,—
'Tis right; for the lab'rer's entitled to bread;
The idle deserves to go hungry to bed.

And it is no matter, gentle reader, whether it be at wo or four legged spider; one with two eyes or six.—Girls did you ever look at a spider through a microscope?—You would not perhaps, if you should discover all the strange things described by Lowenhoeck; but it is a curious animal, well worth your minute examination. He has six beautiful eyes, and the tenuity of his thread surpasses belief. The microscope unfolds the wonders of the new world; and if a survey of the heavenly bodies tends to awaken in the mind exalted notions of the Deity, the close inspection of His minutest works is not less calculated to impress the soul with admiration, reverence and love.

But my subject runs away with me. My intention is to point out a remedy for an acknowledged evil. There is a great complaint for dull times and the stagnation of business, It is true, the times have changed. We have been doing the business of Europe, for twenty-five years—buying—selling—and carrying Peace has changed the aspect of commercial affairs: Europe is able to manage her own concerns—and we have in the country as well as the city double the hands employed in trade and speculation, or unemployed altogether that is necessary. Profits so much divided become insufficient for generous support, even to the industrious. As for the idle—the drones in society—the spiders that wont weave themselves webs—it is no matter how soon they starve.

A little resolution, and the work is done. Mother earth is kind as ever.—Prolific of of every good gift, when wooed and courted, she offers to repay our attention—the whitest bread—the fattest beef—and a profusion of good things.—Now my notion is that every man who reads this, who is gaining nothing, or going behind hand, should turn his attention to agriculture. No matter whether he is a merchant—without customers: a physician—without patients; A lawyer—without clients. Or an idle man—unless he has ten thousand in bank stock or a ticket in the lottery.

The cultivation of the earth is an employment respectable as delightful and productive. The name of Cincinatus decends to us thrice honored, from his labors in the field. Washington gloried in the pursuit.

Nor is it as some would believe, a business in which learning would be so useless, that a man of education could find no exercise for his knowledge in the employment. The complete farmer should be an accomplished scholar.—His acquirements in in chemistry, geology, mathematics, and even astronomy, might be rendered serviceable, for though ignorance may sneer, the influence of the planets upon the products of the earth, is not unworthy of a thought of the wisest. A metaphysician the farmer may not be; it is a bewildering path, and leads to darkness—and doubts. Of law, he should know enough to keep clear of its toils: and of physic, to depend more upon temperance and exercise, for health, than upon the drugs of the apothecary.

A few years ago there was in our neighborhood a young man of fine education—lively and enterprising. But he longed to be a merchant, and grow richer faster than his father had done on his farm. He removed to the city—entered into trade—married a charming girl, lived genteely but not extravagantly, compared with his associates—for a time he was reputed prosperous—nay, rich. But when I last visited him, in town, I could discover an occasional sigh, and flitting clouds of gloom shaded his sprightly countenance, and was satisfied, that even when his face beamed with smiles, his heart was the seat of anguish. Time confirmed my conjectures. After struggling with insurmountable difficulties. he closed his affairs without a stain upon his honor, and retired to a farm.

Now, reader, it would do your kind heart good to go and see him. The house is small, but snug and neatly furnished. The barn is crowded with hay and grain; and fifteen head of cattle feed in the barn yard. Milk flows in abundance, and Mary tells me she can make as good cheese as she used to pound cake. The ducks and geese swim in the pool below the house; the turkeys roam in the fields—and an hundred fowls display their glossy plumage before his door.

Frank does not toil like a slave; but he sees to every thing—rises with the robin, attends to his concerns; and labors, if necessary, until dinner. The afternoon, unless business presses, more especially during the winter, he devotes to reading and social converse. A happier fellow you never saw; and he insists upon it, labor is not an evil—but that it gives to food, and society and repose, an exquisite zest. to which the sons of ease and indulgence are entire strangers.

It would be a happy day for our country, if we could see thousands following the example of Frank Woodgrove—many an aching heart would then beat cheerfully. Then would farming become as it ought, the first among the most honorable professions. The science, which is yet in its infancy would be highly improved—ten acres be made to produce the present crop of twenty; and happiness be sought, where alone it can be found, in a middle fortune—as far below wealth and splendor, as it is above want.

Cleveland, (Ohio,) May 11.

The Indians who murdered Wood and Bishop, after acknowledging the fact, say, they went to other camps to kill others, but that the dogs would not permit them to get near the huts—that they did not get so much booty as they expected, at the place where they committed the murder, and that they were determined to get as much furs as they could, and murder every person in their camps, (provided they could find them sleeping) till they effected their object.

One of the murderers is a lad of only about 16 years of age, and it is thought he will be cleared on account of his age. Numerous are the reports respecting this lad; some of which go to criminate, and others to clear him. By information received from a gentleman, who had conversed with the prisoners through their interpreter, we are informed that after Wood was killed and Bishop so much disabled as to be held up, by the two elder ones, the lad struck him several blows on the head with the tomahawk, which laid him dead at his feet.

Whether he took any part in the murder of Wood, we are unable to say. The other two are also young, the one 18 and the other 23. The eldest of which has a wife and one child. The murderers were given up by their chiefs, with the greatest apparent cheerfulness—the lad of 16 years old was taken in his father's hut. The father and mother showed some symptoms of sorrow, but said, 'if he is the rogue, take him away—try him by your laws, and punish him according to his deserts.'

Whilst the tear of sympathy stole down the cheeks of the unhappy parents, they resigned their son into the hands of justice, to atone for his crimes. Here we find even amongst the natives of the forest, a veneration for justice, rarely to be met with amongst people professing the name of Christians.

The three Indians who murdered Wood and Bishop, are confined in Huron jail—they have not been brought to this place as it was supposed they would have been—probably owing to the short time they will have to be confined till the court.

On the 18th ult. the legislature of Connecticut passed an act authorising their governor to present to commodore M'Donough an elegant pair of pistols, with complimentary devices, as a tribute to his valor in the ever memorable battle of lake Champlain, with the British fleet. Commodore M'Donough is not a native of Connecticut, but married there; and the state by this attention have shewn a determination to encourage and reward merit, tho' not the offspring of its own clime.

New-York, May 27.

LIEUT. COL. TOWSON.

It is with regret we learn that lieut col. Towson of the United States Light Artillery, commanding the garrison in this harbor, has resigned his commission in the army, and will leave town in a few days. The resignation of this gallant soldier, deprives our country of the services of one of its most distinguished officers. Col. Towson will carry with him the respect and attachment of all classes of our citizens. This, however, his character, must always secure to him, in whatever station he may be placed.

Charleston, May 24.

CESSION OF CUBA.

A letter from a planter in the Island of Cuba, to a gentleman in this city, dated 22d April, 1819, says, "You have no doubt already been informed of the very interesting report concerning the entire cession of this Island to Great Britain. It has caused great commotion in the minds of all the inhabitants, both foreign and native. I have conversed with many natives on the subject, and they say it is impossible for their King to do any such thing; that they will not agree to any such sale. They suppose the United States will assist them in case of such an event; and say they ought to be allowed the preference, if they are to be sold, and they have no doubt but the United States will assist the loan of the necessary money, as it would be so severe a blow to their commerce, &c. Gazette.

ALEXANDRIA:
TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1819.

BANKS.

Notwithstanding the avidity with which the editors of papers in Baltimore seized upon, and gave currency to, the unfounded rumors in circulation, set afloat no doubt, by interested individuals, in relation to the solvency of the banks in this part of the district, we have studiously avoided giving the various reports which we have heard on the same subject, relative to several of the Baltimore banks; and not till we saw an official notice of one of the banks, did we deem it proper to say any thing about it. With respect to the banks in this place, now in operation, we are confident they are fully able to meet all their engagements, and will continue to do so; and are happy to learn from the following article, copied from the Baltimore Federal Gazette of Saturday, in relation to the Mechanics' bank, that the evil of a bank stoppage is not likely to extend farther there than to the City Bank of Baltimore.—The conduct of the other banks in Baltimore, and individuals, towards the oppressed bank, as mentioned in this article, is highly honorable and praiseworthy—and we would say to the directors of the different institutions in this place, and individuals, should occasion require it, go thou and do so likewise.

"A necessary arrangement at the City Bank of Baltimore, yesterday, excited a partial alarm, chiefly among the laboring class of citizens, respecting bank paper, and caused a number of small demands for specie on several of the other banks, which was renewed this morning. These demands were met so promptly, that the public confidence was soon restored. Except in a few instances, the sums demanded were very small; a great proportion of them, both in number and amount, did not exceed ten dollars from each claimant, and very many of them were for one and two dollars.

At the Mechanics' Bank of Baltimore, where the greatest number of claims were made, several of the directors attended to assist the officers of the bank, and by this means a vast crowd of demands were satisfied in a short period, so that before twelve o'clock to-day, scarcely a solitary claimant remained, and the demand has now wholly ceased.

A gratifying instance of the confidence reposed in the Mechanics' Bank in this city, came to our knowledge this morning, during the run which was made upon that institution for specie. A Lady came to say, that she had laid by a few hundred Spanish dollars, which, if the bank wanted them, were entirely at its service. A number of respectable citizens also proved their confidence in each of the banks, by making deposit in specie.

As an act of justice, which we have much pleasure in performing, we add, that the several respectable exchange offices in this city have evinced, on this occasion, an active and friendly liberality in their conduct, which has been highly useful in aiding the banks to quiet the alarm which prevailed; for this meritorious conduct they will receive as they deserve, the thanks of their fellow citizens. That one or two citizens have acted otherwise than friendly to the banks, we sincerely regret, and hope that on reflection, they will be sensible of the impropriety of assisting to increase an unnecessary excitement.

The friendly conduct of all the other banks in this city to those on which demands were made, is highly honorable to their respective officers and directors; and the increase of confidence in the safety of our monied institutions which must be the result of this judicious conduct, will render the short excitement which we have experienced a benefit to our city."

ANECDOTE.

A gentleman of this city, whether actuated by imaginary fears, or a disposition to add to the embarrassments of his fellow citizens, during the unfounded alarm excited yesterday, made a draft on the Mechanics' bank for the balance of his account there, to the amount of upwards of 4000 dollars, which was immediately paid to him in specie. His object was to place it in some other bank which he thought more secure; but to the honor of the feelings which at present pervade the community, this evidence of his desire to oppress one bank was so resentfully viewed by the others, that not one of them would consent to receive the deposit, or open an account with him. ——— [Ibid.

Langdon Cheves, Esq. president of the bank of the United States, arrived in Baltimore on Friday evening last from Philadelphia.

It is generally understood that the U. States Office in this city has called on the state banks to pay up their balances about 20 per cent a week, till paid; then, to settle up weekly or at same short period.—This is by orders from head quarters. It is time then to aid our state institutions—But how? Easily. Let such as have deposits in the United States bank withdraw their deposits and put them into the state banks. Let those who have notes to take, make them payable in the state banks. Why? Because but few notes of the U. States bank are in circulation; deposited notes must therefore be paid in state paper—which is equal to drawing so much specie from the state banks and putting it into the U. States bank. The merchants of New-York rally around their state banks; and shall not we?

UNITED STATES BANK STOCK.

In quoting the price of this stock in yesterday's paper, an error was made which was not discovered until several hundred copies had been struck off. It should have read thus—Stock was offered at 96¼—96 was offered for it, but no sale made.

This morning 50 shares was sold at 95¼—95¼ was offered for 150 more

The Franklin Gazette, of last evening says, that "U. States bank stock fell this forenoon, on the arrival of the mail from Baltimore, to 94."

INVENTION.

Messrs. E. & C. Smith have advertised in a Utica paper a new invention for excavating the earth and for raising stone. It is stated that two of these machines are now in operation on the great western canal, and that each actually raise one ton twelve feet and carries it off seventy feet, and returns again with the empty box to the place where it was taken up, in the space of one minute and an half. This is performed by one horse and two men; one man attends the horse, the other attends the boxes, to unhook two hooks from the empty box and hook them again to the next fullest box, then that is raised, carried off, and returns in the same manner.

COMMUNICATION.

I do not know a subject that would afford a finer scope for a good writer to display his talents upon, than that on which you expatiated in your Gazette of Monday last—clemency: not one on which a compiler might employ his industry with more delight and improvement to society, or greater advantage to himself, than in collating from history, ancient and modern, the splendid examples of that virtue, with which for the honor of human nature it may be said, the annals of the human race are not very thinly furnished. A work of that kind would be a very jewel of the first water in the schools, by serving to give a decided leaning to youth, towards lenity and merciful conduct, instead of leaving them unresisting slaves to their own untutored, wild and savage passions, which often betray them into vice and error, when nothing is farther from their intentions than to break off from the path of virtue and right. With a view to encourage in your readers a contribution to such a series, I now send you for your paper an extract from history, to add to that pleasing story of Augustus with which your readers were delighted by your Gazette of Monday last.

When Demetrius, king of Macedon, in his war with Seleucus, was abandoned by his army, and betrayed, finding escape impracticable, he determined to surrender to his enemy; and to him, for that purpose, sent a notice of his design. When the latter heard of his intention, he gave the necessary orders for his reception, and broke out before his whole court in these words. "It is not the fortune of Demetrius which has thus provided for his safety, but mine which hath been watchful for my glory. I thank her more for this, than for all the favors she has done me—because I esteem an act of clemency more honorable than any victory." The many noble and generous things said by Seleucus, in this high-flown tone of fortune, inclined many of his courtiers to believe that Demetrius would become the chief favorite of the king. They immediately determined therefore, to go and pay their court to him, as soon as he should arrive at the quarters of Seleucus.—Apollonides, who had formerly been a courtier in the palace of Antigonus, was sent to meet Demetrius, and when he had bro't him to the village assigned, almost the whole court of Seleucus went to pay their compliments to his father-in-law. When the ministers about Seleucus, who hated Demetrius, perceived this, they instantly put him in mind of the dangerous consequences which might attend his nobles and commanders entering into a familiarity with a person of so dextrous an address, and such a surprising intrepidity. These insinuations had the effect desired by those who made them, insomuch that while Demetrius was entertaining his old acquaintance and new friends, Pausanius, with a guard of a thousand horse, came to conduct him, not, as he hoped, to the presence of Seleucus, but to a castle in a small island, where he remained a prisoner. Seleucus, when he had provided for his own security, did all that could be thought of to make confinement easy to Demetrius. He ordered him royal entertainment within doors, a fine stable of horses, and the use of a noble park without. To give him a right relish of these pleasures, hopes were cherished, and promises of liberty intermixed, which were all made to depend upon the coming of Antiochus and Statonice, to whom the conditions on which this freedom was to be obtained were referred.—All other arts were practised to amuse Demetrius and to divert his care. At first, he suffered himself to be deluded, and hoped that, after a time, Seleucus would see him; but when he found this protracted, and that excuse succeeded excuse, he penetrated the design of his politic son-in-law, and without giving in to vain expectations, sought by all methods, to make his life as little tedious to him as might be. Hunting was for a time his chief diversion; but by degrees he quitted it, gave himself up to feasting and carousing, that in wine, and pleasant conversation, the memory of past greatness, and present sorrows might be drowned; so hard a thing for those who pretend to fight for repose to enjoy it, when they acquire it either in consequence of their victories, or through the mere bounty of providence; and so much wiser it is to moderate our desires, than to place all hopes in their gratification.

Demetrius found by fatal experience that mirth and wine were no cures for grief, for while by them he sought to stifle his concern, the struggle between resentment, and a desire to conceal it, added to his high living, induced a distemper, which, when he had been a prisoner three years, carried him off in the fifty-fourth year of his age.

While Demetrius lay in prison, many princes and states, moved with the distress of so great a prince, sued to Seleucus for his liberty. Lysimadus only was base enough to offer him a vast sum of money to put him to death; which, with the highest indignation, Seleucus refused, affirming that neither envy, nor any ancient antipathy inclined him to confine Demetrius, but only a regard for his own safety, and a just attention to reasons of state. As Demetrius had rendered himself very remarkable, for his filial piety towards his father, so his son Antigonus manifested as laudable affection towards him; for notwithstanding the letter his father had wrote him, might in the opinion of the world have freed him from all censure, yet did he offer Seleucus not only all that he held in Greece, but his own person in hostage for his father's liberty: but this was refused. However, Antigonus continued earnestly to solicit it, by the most pressing and passionate letters, as long as Demetrius lived, going in deep mourning during that space, and never once partaking of any feasts or diversions while his father was in prison. As soon as he understood his father's ashes were coming from Syria, he sailed with a noble fleet to the Archipelago to meet them.

He then deposited them in an urn of gold, which, when he entered the harbor of Corinth, he placed in the poop of the royal galley, set his crown upon it, and covered it with a canopy of purple, himself standing by, clad in deep mourning, and his eyes red with tears. Most of the cities in Greece sent chaplets to crown the urn, and deputations of their prime citizens to assist at the funeral. All the trophies of honor were left at Corinth, where the ceremony was performed; but the urn itself was transported to Demetria, a city to which the late king had given his name, which had been built under his direction, and peopled by his command out of the villages in the neighborhood of Colchos. whom she saw come out of the Bay of St. Louis, but having a good breeze, outsailed him and saw the same boat take possession of a small English sloop which capt. Ross had been in company with for 24 hours previous to her capture, and reports her being laden with dry goods and wine, from St. Thomas bound to Aux Cayes, in sight of which place she was captured—Passed going in, a large full built American schnr. could not get near enough to ascertain where from. During April, there was a small launch bound from Aux Cayes to Jacmel, with seven Indigenes, who had on board 600 dollars, taking it from the Key at Aux Cayes—they were perceived by several of the laborers working there, and it appears four of them agreed to try and capture the money. They proceeded and armed themselves with sabres and knives, and overhauled the boat, which being without arms, they immediately killed five of them, the remainder jumped overboard and swam to the shore, one lying in the boat as they supposed dead, they threw over board, and though he had received several cuts and gashes over his head and body, he reached the shore, and there laid about five hours, until day light, when he was picked up by a fisherman, who took him to Aux Cayes—on his arrival at the Key, the first man to assist him out of the boat, was one of the murderers, who exclaimed at the horrid deed, that the government never noticed such things, but always let them pass unnoticed; the boy, who fortunately jumped overboard and saved himself, hearing of his companion being arrived, immediately went to see him, and there recognized one of the murderers bearing the mangled body He gave information of the above murderer, who was immediately arrested and very shortly after the other three were detected and shot, which was put into execution on Sunday, the second of May. They faced their executioners at the distance of 10 or 12 paces and appeared to be fully void of fear; they marched to the water side; where they were shot, and two of them fell smoking a segar, and one of them not being touched by the first volley, they were severally ordered to fire, which they did one at a time, and presented the musket close to his head which snapped repeatedly: the second was called and his flashed, the victim then replied (viteman, viteman) several then advanced and despatched him, by putting through his body 10 or 12 balls 15th May, off Cape Maize, was boarded by one of Admiral Brion's squadron—being calm he swept along side, hailed, and ordered the master with his Spanish papers to come on board—I told him there were no Spanish papers on board—He then ordered me on board immediately with what papers I had, which was done. On going on board I was ordered aft, and on examination was treated politely, and allowed to pass his force, consisting of one brass long nine, and four 9 lb. carronades, with about 50 or 60 men.—On the 19th May, was spoken by the U. S sch. Firebrand, 4 days from Providence, on a cruise.

Lectures

ON THE RUNNING HAND,

Price 3 dollars for seven lectures, each two hours at the Writing Room, next door to the Marshall's Offie, Washington street.

IMMEDIATELY after a former advertisement, I engaged a sufficient number of scholars, and have since refused the applications of many, because they applied too late to go through the whole course of writing on the different Hands. But to meet the wishes of many, I propose to give lectures on the Running Hand only during the remaining ten days that my engagements elsewhere permit me to continue in this place. And notwithstanding, the statement may appear extravagant and even impossible to many who know nothing about it, yet is a fact that not only in 12 or 14 hours, but even in 4 hours, I will produce a change in a person's writing from a cramped, slow, slovenly hand to an easy, free, neat running hand, entirely different from the former one. Those who please may try the experiment. Besides acquiring the running hand perfectly and permanently, each gentleman will be taught the true method of making, holding the pen, sitting at the writing desk, &c. Specimens of the running hand acquired in a few hours may be seen at the writing room.

Piano Fortes.

THE subscriber respectfully announces his return from New-York, and solicits the attention of his friends and the public, informing them he has on hand several Piano Fortes, London make, and one of his own manufacture, of an elegant construction, highly finished, of a full bodied melodious tone and brilliant touch. He warrants them all perfectly sound, and of the very best quality. He will also allow in exchange a fair price for second hand pianos or organs, beings such as he approves. Those instruments he offers for sale at the New-York prices, at the store on King-street adjoining the Mechanics' Bank.—Also he has for sale a few superior fine toned violins; bows, bridges, strings and trimmings for most kinds of musical instruments.

N. B. Mr. Western, having business of importance which calls his attention from Alexandria, for the present, and being desirous to close his concerns here, induces him to offer his Pianos on hand, at a very low rate, provided application is made in the course of twelve or fourteen days.—One of said Piano's is a horizontal grand, a melodious powerful tone (by Broadwood, London) another an elegant circular corner'd, with drawers highly finished, a melodious fine brilliant tone, (by Western,) two others London made, one has extra additional keys, double sounding board, sweet tones—all of them warranted perfectly sound. Most Valuable Landed Property for Sale.

BEING anxious to move to the south-western country, I am disposed to sell that most valuable and well known farm in Charles county, Maryland, called The Meadows, and a part of Westwood Manor.—This tract contains 930 acres, is most eligibly situated, lying in the fork of the two branches of the Wicomico river. As to fertility of soil, and advantages of every description, it is equalled but by few—surpassed by none.

Also, the farm on which I reside, called Somerset, in the County of King George, Virginia. This tract contains 676 acres, by late survey, and is also well situated, lying on the Potomac river, (opposite col. J. Taylor's Maryland Poin testate) and bounded by the same upwards of a mile, is in a progressive state of improvement under the clover and plaster system, which has succeeded beyond my most sanguine expectations.

Also, two other small tracts in Westmoreland county, Va. containing 325 acres.

Also, 1140 acres of military land, in the state of Ohio.

As it is presumed that no person will (and as it is my desire that no one should) purchase without viewing the premises, I will not give a minute description of these tracts. Indisputable title will be made in every instance. Persons wishing to purchase, will please make application personally, or by letter addressed, to the subscriber, near Hampstead post office, Va.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

100 Dollars Reward.

IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of this flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

T. W. MAURICE,
March 17 Capt. Eng. Supt.
The National Intelligencer and Maryland Gazette are requested to insert the above for two weeks and forward their accounts to this office.

To the Printers of the United States.

GENTLEMEN: In presenting a list of new prices of types, some explanatory remarks may be useful. The former prices were fixed during a period in which the raw materials were dear, and not easily to be procured, and it is presumed that they had some claim to be considered moderate, as in 1812 type were more than 3 per cent lower in Philadelphia than in London; and no advance was made on those prices during the late war, although existing circumstances would have justified the measure. It was considered that an advance would be an actual loss to the printers, as the competition in the printing business had, before that period arrived at such a point, that the public were supplied with printing at nearly the minimum; and also, that it was probable the price of types would continue sometime after the return of peace, and recompense for any advantage that was given up. This has taken place.

For some time past, types have been lowered in value but not in price. They have been sold on long and frequently uncertain credit, which produces to the seller all the effects of reduction of price, whilst to the printer who pays, it is comparatively of little benefit. All the advantages are in favor of those who promise, but do not perform, as, in truth, they get types for nothing, and the solvent printers pay for them. Another objection to this mode of reducing price is, that it absorbs the seller's funds, and, no matter how industrious or frugal he may be, subjects him to all the inconveniences of poverty.

Men who possess talents, economy, industry and honor, will sometimes lack money. The characters who have just claims to those attributes will rarely be at a loss for friends, and will enter on business with a more favorable prospect of success, when assisted by a moderate, than by an extended credit, which is equally within the reach of a rival, who, with an ardent disposition for speculation and adventure, may have but doubtful claims to reputation and prudence,

In order to leave no ground for complaint, it is to be understood that all purchasers, since the 1st of April, who comply with the new terms, will be entitled to benefit by the new prices.

Presuming on the long intimacy which has subsisted between you, gentlemen, and this establishment, I request you will give this an insertion in your papers.
Yours, respectfully,
JAMES RONALDSON.

Charlotte Hall School.

THE board of trustees for Charlotte Hall school deem it their duty to announce to the public, the present flourishing condition of this institution. Since the introduction of the present professors, the school has rapidly progressed in the public estimation.

When Philip Briscoe, esq. was called to assume the office of Principal, there were but 27 pupils. The liberality of the State Legislature of 1817, enabled the trustees to retain his services and those of Mr. Miltimore for the classical department—the Reverend Mr. Neale H. Shaw has also been retained as professor of mathematicks, and he is aided in that department by Mr. Sweetsee, a gentleman in high estimation as a professor. Under the management of these gentlemen the school has now 95 boys; and very many applications have already been made for entrance and board. Heretofore a portion of the boys have been compelled to board at the neighboring houses at too great a distance from the school; the trustees are now making arrangements which will enable fifty boys more to be accommodated immediately at the school; so that at all times the Principal will be enabled to exercise a general superintendance over their moral deportment (to the corruption of which, the boys in this retired village have but few temptations). The board will remark to those who are unacquainted with this place, that no part of Maryland is more distinguished for its general healthiness. The price of board is only 100 dollars a year. The tuition is now but 28 dollars a year! It will be raised after August to 32 dollars—a price much lower, however, than any of the public schools of our state.

It is intended then by the trustees to select four boys (of poor and indigent parents) of promise, and to board, clothe, and educate them entirely at the expense of the institution, and afterwards to labor to procure them that station to which their talents and conduct may entitle them.
